This Advertising / Claims Disclaimer applies to marketing content, landing pages, social media, email, SMS, paid ads, sales materials, testimonials, and educational content.

No Guaranteed Results

Marketing materials may describe potential services, systems, opportunities, or benefits, but we do not guarantee patient outcomes, revenue, lead volume, conversion rates, prescriptions, treatment results, or business performance.

Healthcare Claims

Healthcare-related statements should be educational and compliance-conscious. Claims about diagnosis, treatment, cure, prevention, efficacy, safety, or outcomes should be reviewed by qualified professionals before publication.

Prescription and Telehealth Claims

Marketing should state that provider review is required and prescriptions are issued only if clinically appropriate and legally permitted. Content should not imply guaranteed approval, automatic prescribing, or bypassing licensed medical judgment.

Testimonials

Testimonials and reviews may reflect individual experiences and may not represent typical results. Required disclosures and permissions should be obtained before use.

Review Process

Advertising materials should be reviewed for accuracy, substantiation, privacy, consent, platform policies, and healthcare compliance before publication.
